

2010 PROCTER & GAMBLE STUDENT RESEARCH AWARDS

The PROCTER AND GAMBLE COMPANY has established awards for UNDERGRADUATE and DOCTORAL students (one award in each category) in the School of Integrative Biology (SIB) or the School of Molecular and Cellular Biology (SMCB). Undergraduate and doctoral students in all programs within SIB and SMCB are eligible to apply. These one-time awards will provide a stipend of $1000 for undergraduate and $2000 for doctoral students for research that has already been accomplished.

To apply for a 2010 Procter and Gamble Student Research Award, submit the items below to: Procter and Gamble Awards Committee, c/o Diane Tsevelekos, School of Molecular & Cellular Biology, B103 CLSL, MC 110, no later than 12:00 noon on Wednesday, March 31.

- 1) COVER SHEET with your name, e-mail address, phone number, major or degree program, dates of entry into the program, expected date of graduation, and the name and departmental affiliation of your research advisor.
- 2) TITLE AND ABSTRACT (one to two pages, double-spaced) of a research paper that you could present orally. Because the members of the award committee have diverse backgrounds, abstracts and presentations (see below) should be geared to a general scientific audience.
- 3) ACADEMIC RÉSUMÉ (one to two pages) detailing your academic accomplishments, including GPA, publications and presentations. Do not list courses taken.
- 4) LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION from your research advisor, written specifically for this award.

Up to four undergraduates and doctoral students will be selected for 15-minute public oral presentations on the morning of Wednesday, April 21, before scientists from The Procter and Gamble Company as well as the SIB and SMCB faculty. The final awardees in the undergraduate and doctoral categories will be chosen on the basis of their scholarly achievements and research presentations. Their names will be announced April 23 and the awards will be presented at a reception to honor faculty, graduate and undergraduate award recipients for the academic year 2009-2010, to be held on Thursday, May 6 (Reading Day).
